COULD BUSINESS BE ON THE UP?

It seems that the newly repaired pavement outside the shops in Straight Bit has already had a beneficial effect on business at Aries House. Within a week of the repair work finally being completed to the sinkhole, there were reports that viewings from prospective new businesses to the vacant premises in the parade were seeing an upturn.

The encouraging news comes from Robert Currie, Chartered Surveyor at Frost Commercial.

"We have had a number of enquiries and two very positive viewings at the vacant kitchen shop," he said. "It's hardly surprising that there was little interest while the builders were on site as no one could see the premises from the road. It's all much more positive now that its tidy and the work is finished."

Despite it being early days for the established businesses to see any financial benefits, Rani Siva from Unit 4 newsagents agrees that there is a feeling of relief that the work has at last been completed. A new cash dispenser has recently been fitted to their shop front which she hopes will encourage more custom. "Many potential customers could not even see the cash machine behind the builders fencing, but now we are hoping more people will use it," she said.

It's not just at Aries House that business is looking more optimistic. The empty shop in Swains Market that was leased to Rounds for many years has also seen a healthy interest from potential new businesses. It is currently under offer to a similar food and beverage business to Rounds. Interest in the site of the old Barclays Bank in Common Road has also been reported, but no firm agreement has yet been reached.

Hats off to Easter!

Carrington Infant School children held their traditional Easter Bonnet walk around the village watched by all their parents and families.

All the children looked absolutely lovely in their decorated hats and it was clear that they had all made a huge effort to make them look really colourful and Spring like. Gilly Fryer, the school's amazing lollipop man helped to judge the competition and gave out the prizes. The Easter celebration on 3 April was rounded off by the Rainbow class who performed their Easter song to the rest of the school in celebration of Autism Awareness week.

'Festival of Football' 1st & 2nd June

As we go to print we don't yet know who has made the champions league final on Saturday 1 June... but what we do know is that Saturday marks the start of another major footie tournament. The annual Flackwell Heath Minors FC 'Festival of Football' 6-a-side tournament will be kicking off at Green Dragon Lane sports ground.

It is a great village tradition and club occasion and when the sun is shining it's a great family day out. As well as the football matches played across the weekend, there will be a bar, bouncy castles, barbeque, tombola, reptiles show, face painting and lots of other fun to be had.

There will be over 2,000 boys and girls from teams across the county and beyond, supported by their families and friends as well as hundreds of our loyal supporters from the village.

"It's a great club and we're really proud to be a part of the community," said Declan Breen, Club Chairman. "The tournament is a major event for us, it takes a great deal of planning and organising and the money we raise goes back into the club to fund equipment and facilities."

Everyone at Flackwell Heath Minors FC, including Hobbo the club's mascot, looks forward to welcoming you all on 1st and 2nd June.

'Fellas' to meet celebrated author Noel Fellowes

Author and ex-policeman Noel Fellowes, who was wrongly convicted of a murder and served time in prison before beginning a new and enriched life on the outside, will be coming to talk at Christ Church on 25 May.

Ten years after his release, new evidence regarding the murder came to light and Noel was completely vindicated. He later went on to write the best-selling autobiography Killing Time.

Now ordained, Noel's commitment is to reach out to those who find themselves on the 'other side' of the dark chasm, whether they are lonely or lost and to bridge the gap. He has written life-management programmes to help prisoners and addicts break free from the chains of addiction. He also manages homeless projects, leads a Church and trains and equips leaders nationally and internationally.

Noel will be speaking at 'Fellaship', the men's group at Christ Church, on Saturday 25 May (8am to 10am). A warm welcome (and a full English breakfast) awaits guests! More details from fellaship@ccfh.org.uk / 07500 017306

We also continue with our plea for old maps of the local villages as we would like to build a picture of how the villages have changed and grown over the years. Copies of old photographs of local houses, schools, churches, chapels, pubs, farms and farmland are also welcomed.

Buzzing about beekeeping

The Grapevine first encountered the High Wycombe and District Beekeepers' Association at last summer's village picnic and discovered that Charles Butler, widely regarded as the father of English Beekeeping, was born in High Wycombe in 1560. Here we speak with Rashmi Patel of Churchill Close about his own passion for beekeeping.

What sparked your interest in beekeeping?

I have always been interested in nature and knew that bees were in decline, so I thought I could help a little by taking up bee keeping as a hobby. I like honey so that is a bonus. But what made it possible was time and space. I used to have a shop in Cryers Hill and I also had a second job, so I never had spare time. Then I sold the shop and moved to Flackwell Heath to a house with enough space to keep bees. In 2016, I got my first hive and colony of bees.

What do you do with the honey?

My first honey harvest was in 2017 and I gave it to friends and family. I have stored the 2018 honey and this will be given away as wedding favours when my daughter gets married this June. I plan to sell the honey that I harvest this year.

Have you ever been stung?

I have been stung a few times but as a result of being careless and not having a bee suit on. Bees in general are only interested in pollen and nectar so you could be sitting in your garden with bees going to flowers without you even realizing they are there.

What do you enjoy most about beekeeping?

Bees are fascinating and I just love watching them as they fly in and out of the hives. They bring back pollen in pouches on their back legs and these are clearly visible. If you know your flowers well you can probably guess which flowers the bees have been visiting by the colour of the pollen.

Tell us a little about keeping bees – what is a typical day for a beekeeper?

On the whole bees look after themselves as they have done for thousands of years. All a beekeeper is doing is supporting them and making sure they are healthy and free from disease.

Bees are active from spring through to autumn and a beekeeper spends 1-2 hours per hive per week on a hive inspection. Other tasks like cleaning equipment and making frames for the new season are done in the winter.

Is beekeeping a social activity?

In one word, yes! HWBKA, which celebrated its 75th anniversary this year, organizes two meetings a month where talks are given by experts on developing beekeeping and other bee related topics. This is an opportunity to meet other local beekeepers, especially when members get together for a day's maintenance of the HWBKA apiary and enjoy a barbeque.

For more information on beekeeping, contact High Wycombe and District Beekeepers' Association (HWBKA) www.hwbka.co.uk.

Book review: The Sealwoman's Gift, by Sally Magnusson

A brilliant first novel from the daughter of Magnus Magnusson, the story follows a group of Icelanders abducted from Iceland in 1627 by pirates from the Muslim nations of North Africa. Sold into slavery in Algiers, the main character Asta and her pastor husband struggle to make sense of their fate. When her husband is released to seek a ransom for the Icelandic slaves from the King of Denmark, Asta faces the challenge of integrating into the Arab household while attempting to remain true to herself, her husband and her religion.

Based on a factual account by the pastor Olafur Egilsson, Magnusson weaves the imagined story of Asta's slavery in Algiers seamlessly into the account of Olafur's abduction, release and years spent raising a ransom to free his people. This is a beautifully written, thought-provoking read which opens one's eyes into a part of history not often explored in fiction. Book review by Diane Hall.

Books brought to your door

Are you, or is someone you know, housebound through age, poor health or mobility? Do they love reading and miss going to the library?

The Home Library Service, part of Buckinghamshire Libraries, is co-ordinated by Roberta Wixon and has capacity to help more clients enjoy books. Roberta says: "This wonderful free service is run by a dedicated group of volunteers who choose books, deliver and pick them up for our clients. Clients can borrow DVDs, talking books and magazines as well their choice from our huge range of large and normal print books.

"To set up the service I make an initial visit to the client at home to talk about their needs and wishes and set up a library account if they haven't got one already. From then on I match the client with a volunteer who will ring the client and arrange to deliver the first lot of books. They will then arrange to visit on a monthly basis to pick up any books the client has finished with and bring some more. The volunteer also manages the client's library account dealing with renewals when needed and there are never any overdue charges. If they have time they will often stay for a chat. Some of our volunteers and clients have become good friends.

"I am really keen that we are able to help more housebound residents in Flackwell Heath and I know many of them read The Grapevine so I hope they will get in touch."

If you would like this service or are interested in volunteering please contact Roberta:

NEIGHBOURHOOD WATCH NEWS

So what is Neighbourhood Watch (NHWatch) all about?

It is the largest, voluntary crime-reduction organisation in the UK, and in these days of constraints on police budgets, officer numbers and service reductions, it is a valuable asset to us all. Crime reports suggest that the presence of a NHWatch scheme in a road is a significant deterrent to the would-be 'opportunist' thief.

NHWatch schemes are owned and operated by scheme members, ideally with a 'co-ordinator' to act as the primary contact between the scheme and the local NHWatch group and police. In the Thames Valley Policing Area, Wycombe District Neighbourhood Watch Association (WDNHWA) is probably one of the most active Associations. WDNHWA organises regular local meetings to raise awareness of current issues, eg. 'Cons, Scams & Cybercrime'. They can also provide a range of security products at competitive prices. See: <https://neighbourhoodwatchwycombe.org/>

Being in a NHWatch scheme, not only provides information and other resources to promote individual safety and security, but also encourages neighbours to work together to enhance the overall security of a road. However, this does require members to take an active interest in their own and their neighbour's security, and this is evidenced in many cases by social activities within schemes. The use of e-mail and other social networking apps can be usefully employed to communicate within a scheme and share information about possible crime situations.

Members need to:

- Be on their guard - against the many forms of doorstep, mail/e-mail and telephone cons and scams.
- Be vigilant - and develop an awareness of their area so that they are more likely to spot when something is 'not right',
- React – don't assume that somebody else has reported a suspicious activity! Remember the story about four people called Everybody, Somebody, Anybody and Nobody: There was an important job to be done and Everybody was sure that Somebody would do it. Anybody could have done it, but Nobody did it. Better to have something reported twice than not at all.
- Report it – use the 101 number to report suspicious activities. This can be of great value to the police – if they don't know about something, how can they be expected to do something about it? If you see a crime in progress, don't hesitate, dial 999

Finally, if you are in a scheme, check that your street signs are up to scratch, and if not, DO something about it. Maybe your scheme needs a bit of a 'Spring Clean' to refresh things? WDNHWA are always happy to help.

For further information about any of these topics or about Neighbourhood Watch, contact:

David Gresswell: Scheme Co-ordinator, Flackwell Heath

Flackwell Heath Women's Institute

The Evening WI hosted our Group Meeting with a speaker, Chrissie Wallace, who gave us an insider's view of her time in the Bake-Off tent. The refreshments were more than usually welcome!

At our April Meeting, we heard from Dr Brenda Harold about 'GM Crops: Do We Need Them?'. Most of our food crops are the result of thousands of years of natural and selective breeding and use. New varieties can be very beneficial – an example is 'golden rice', whose vitamin content has led to a measurable reduction in blindness in children in Asia. A group of members visited Greatmoor, the Bucks County Council's 'Energy from Waste' facility. This is where our 'non-recyclable' waste gets burnt to produce enough electricity for the grid to supply 40,000 homes. We were most impressed by the very low levels of emissions, and the way almost everything gets re-used; even the ash goes for aggregate.

Next month we will discuss the resolutions to be presented to the National Federation of WIs in June. One is on rural bus services and one is on smear tests to screen for cervical cancer. The WI certainly covers a wide range of interests!

The Morning WI had their 27th birthday meeting in April when we were entertained by magic tricks from Clive Peacock, followed by a buffet lunch supplied by our members, which was much enjoyed by all.

Fond farewell to Carolyn

Memories from friends and the Flackwell Heath Residents' Association of Carolyn Leonard who passed away in March.

For such a diminutive person, Carolyn had a huge heart, made an impact on so many people and was involved throughout village life.

A long standing member of FHRA's committee, having served as Secretary, Carolyn took over the Planning & Environment Group in 2009. Under her quiet but determined leadership flower beds, trees and planters appeared and regular litter picks took place. She contributed to Cherry Fayres and the village picnic and attended almost every FHRA event, often selling raffle tickets in her gentle but persuasive manner.

Carolyn's primary interest was planning, keeping a watchful eye on applications' design so the character of the village was maintained. She became involved with the Pine Trees development at Daws Hill before she became a Parish Councillor in 2015. Subsequently her role in planning expanded representing our Flackwell Heath ward in the scrutiny of all planning applications including the new WDC Local Plan and the reserve sites. She used her passion for looking after other people's dogs, strolling through the village on the other end of a lead, to take a peek at sites where planning permission had been submitted. A committed Christian, Carolyn was an active member of Christ Church and was involved in numerous activities. She helped run the Oasis group for bereaved folk, provided flowers for the weekday 'Coffee Stop', led prayers at services, and loved being a member of the welcoming team.

Secretary of the High Wycombe branch of the Baptist Missionary Society for thirty years, Carolyn also organised and oversaw the transport for the summer Lighthouse children's club and occasionally helped at Girls Brigade meetings. After retiring from teaching, she trained as a volunteer Money Coach with Christians Against Poverty (CAP). With other local Coaches she ran CAP Money courses, using her teaching skills to help people improve the management of their finances. She was also a befriender with the High Wycombe CAP Debt Centre, visiting people with serious debt problems. There are lots of individuals and families whose money worries have been eased thanks to her wise and prayerful support.

We will all miss Carolyn's friendship, her enthusiasm and infectious smile. Her legacy lives on in the daffodils, cherry trees and the planters that brighten our village and, of course, her house in Chapman Lane that she built from scratch, fulfilling a dream shared with her husband Geoff whom she sadly lost in 2010.

Flackwell Amblers

If you would like to join us on Sunday 19 May, the Flackwell Amblers will be going for a walk at Beaconsfield. We will be meeting at the ex-Budgen's car park at 10am. This walk will last approximately 2 hours and is undertaken at your own risk. Please wear walking boots or strong shoes.

N. B. This walk may be subject to change at short notice due to prevailing weather conditions. New walkers welcome, just turn up on the day. The next date for your diary is Sunday 23 June, 2019.

Teacher's homework

Does anyone remember Dora Wilson, a teacher at the original Flackwell Heath primary school in the 1920s? After losing her husband through illness, Dora remarried in 1938 and took the name Beal. Her granddaughter Alison Peach - a teacher herself at Carrington Junior School until 2012 - would love to hear more. Please contact her on 01628 522413 or email nigelpch@aol.com.
